

Invitation to EPICamp no.3

EPICUR Research kicked-off in early 2021! Funded in the framework of Horizon 2020 in the programme line “Science with and for Society” [SwafS], EPICUR Research is developing a common research agenda for the eight partner universities to improve and strengthen the interaction between science and society.

EPICUR Research will also empower early career researchers by initiating bottom-up collaborative processes and building new transdisciplinary EPICUR networks for researchers.

More EPICamps will take place over the next couple months, the upcoming third one organised by the University of Upper Alsace, Mulhouse from January 21– 22, 2022 (virtual) on „Collective Identities and/or European Identities“.

EPICamps are virtual, interactive events aimed at young scientists from the EPICUR alliance in order to create a space for exchange, collaboration and academic matchmaking between scientists from different disciplines and areas.

Submissions and Registrations are invited via a Call for Participation (Deadline January 07, 2022!). Registration without thematic contribution is open until January 17, 2022. Researchers from all – especially early – career stages, from all disciplines and from all partner institutions can participate.

We look forward to your participation and contributions!
